A Call to Act: Engaging Religious Leaders and Communities in Addressing Gender-based Violence and HIV

Published by	USAIDS and Religions for Peace
Languages	English
Faiths	For all faiths
Cost	Free
Where to get it	http://religionsforpeace.org/file/resources/toolkits/a-call-to-act-on-hiv-and-aids.pdf
About the resource	An advocacy guide for working with religious leaders. The guide can be used by religious leaders, communities, and institutions to learn about GBV and HIV, why they should address the issues, and how they can address them through specific activities and approaches. Secular organizations working on GBV and HIV also can use this guide to find examples of how to collaborate with religious leaders, communities, and institutions. Thus, this guide helps to take an issue that traditionally is kept silent and private—particularly in religious communities—and places it on the agenda of religions throughout the world as they seek to address HIV in an effective and holistic manner.

Languages	English
Faiths	Christian
Cost	Free
Where to get it	http://www.oikoumene.org/fileadmin/files/wcc-main/documents/p4/ehaia/africa-praying-eng.pdf
About the resource	How should the church and its leaders deal with the origin and meaning of HIV/AIDS, and with the stigma it engenders? How should they address the needs of those affected, and minister to the infected? This resource book is designed for all who have to handle situations created by this relatively new epidemic - church leaders/workers, Sunday school teachers, youth leaders, the laity. The five sections give sermon guidelines and worship outlines for services ranging from weddings to funerals; such key moments of the church's year as Christmas and Easter; attitudes of compassion or discrimination; congregations peopled by youth or grandparents; and social realities like poverty and gender inequality.

Engaging Faith-Based Organizations in HIV Prevention: A Training Manual for Programme Managers

Published by	UNFPA
Languages	English, French, Spanish and Arabic
Faiths	For all faiths
Cost	Free
Where to get it	http://www.unfpa.org/public/global/pid/398
About the resource	UNFPA has embarked on a number of joint initiatives with faith-based organizations to address the spread of HIV and to fight the stigma often directed towards people living with the virus. The Fund's engagement, dialogue and partnership with faith-based organizations have yielded results that have been mutually beneficial to UNFPA and religious institutions' and, most important, have improved the lives of the people they serve. The aim of this training manual is to encourage policy makers, programmers in the field and development practitioners to recognize the complex social, cultural and economic factors in HIV prevention and to partner with faith-based organizations to address them. The ultimate goal: to advance the ICPD agenda and reverse the spread of HIV.

Cost	Free
Where to get it	http://www.oikoumene.org/fileadmin/files/wcc-main/documents/p4/ehaia/listeningwithlove-e.pdf
About the resource	This book is designed for all those Christians who are called to help people cope with HIV/AIDS. Step by step, it introduces us to the basic medical facts, and guides us through practical, loving approaches that enable us to empathize and communicate with those whose lives have been transformed by the disease.

Love in a time of AIDS

Published by	World Council of Churches
Languages	English
Faiths	Christian
Cost	Free
Where to get it	http://www.oikoumene.org/fileadmin/files/wcc-main/documents/p4/ehaia/love-in-a-time-of-aids-eng.pdf
About the resource	This book vividly recounts the stories of women in many countries. It shows how the AIDS crisis makes improving the status women not only a matter of theology and ethics but of health and survival. That in turn challenges churches, which often justify and even collude with forces that subordinate women, to change attitudes and vision and to undertake creative new initiatives in their ministries of healing and hope.

National review of faith-based responses to HIV in Cambodia

Stigma in the context of development A Christian response to the HIV pandemic

Published by	Progressio
Languages	English
Faiths	Christianity
Cost	Free
Where to get it	http://www.progressio.org.uk/sites/default/files/HIV+stigma_2009_0.pdf
About the resource	Progressio has produced this comment piece by Gillian Paterson. She is currently a Progressio board member and an expert on stigma and faith issues. In November 2001, church leaders from sub Saharan Africa met in Nairobi to explore the possibility of a coordinated, ecumenical response to the HIV epidemic. As the discussions on care, treatment, education and prevention proceeded, it became increasingly clear that the major barrier to the churches' existing efforts was the stigma attached to HIV. "Today," participants agreed, "churches are being obliged to acknowledge that we have – however unwittingly – contributed both actively and passively to the spread of the virus."

The Called to Care Toolkit

About the resource	The CALLED TO CARE toolkit consists of 10 practical, action-oriented booklets and mini-manuals on issues related to HIV/AIDS, designed for use by church leaders, especially in sub-Saharan Africa.

English / French /
Portuguese / Swahili

1. Positive Voices

Religious leaders living with or personally affected by HIV and AIDS

The first booklet in the series, Positive Voices, brings together the experiences of 14 African religious leaders – 12 Christians and two Muslims – who are either living with HIV or are personally affected by HIV and AIDS. They include ordained religious leaders and lay people who have a leading role in their faith community. This booklet has three main purposes:

- First, to enable church groups and communities to discuss HIV and AIDS, health, sexual behaviour, and issues related to religion and culture more freely and openly than is usually the case.
- Second, to demonstrate that being HIV-positive is not a cause for shame, despair, fatalism or discrimination.
- Third, to help reduce HIV-related stigma within faith communities by demonstrating that religious leaders too contract HIV, but that they can also live positively and openly with the virus, serving God even more meaningfully and effectively than before.

2. Making it Happen

A guide to help your congregation do HIV/AIDS work

Church congregations or communities may feel 'called to care' about people infected with, or affected by, HIV/AIDS. But what can they do to assist and support such people? How can they address the broader issue of preventing the further spread of HIV — and how can they deal with the sensitive and divisive issues of stigma, shame, discrimination and denial?

The second book in the series, Making it Happen, is designed to help church leaders and congregations to develop and implement a project that addresses some of the challenges of HIV/AIDS.

English / French /
Portuguese / Swahili

3. Time to talk

A guide to family life in the age of AIDS

The third book in the toolkit, Time to Talk, is a handbook to enable churches to discuss family life and sex in the context of the global AIDS epidemic. Intended for use by pastors, deacons and religious Sisters, as well as catechists and lay church leaders.

Contains role plays, games, quizzes, discussions, Bible studies and other participatory exercises.

Available in English

4. Pastoral Action on HIV and AIDS

Training guidelines on the spiritual, social, organisational and practical issues which constitute the pastoral aspects of the HIV epidemic.

Books 4 and 5 in the Called to Care series are based on 12 years of experience by the Organization of African Instituted Churches (OAIC), based in Nairobi, Kenya. The author, Nicta Lubaale, is an ordained pastor who has been involved in faith-based and community responses to HIV and AIDS since 1991. Since January 2007 he has been General Secretary of the OAIC.

Book no. 4, 'Pastoral Action on HIV and AIDS', contains guidelines for training pastors and lay church leaders in addressing the pastoral challenges of the AIDS epidemic. These challenges affect churches in their teachings about sickness and healing, their forms of worship and their pastoral ministries.

Both books include case studies of the work of several African independent churches which, with the support of the OAIC, have responded in particularly innovative ways to the challenges of the AIDS epidemic. These stories are drawn from OAIC member churches in Kenya and Uganda, but they are relevant to churches throughout sub-Saharan Africa, and beyond.

Both books contain numerous role plays, discussion guidelines, Biblical references, individual case studies and illustrations by African artists.

5. Community Action on HIV and AIDS
Training guidelines on community-based issues related to HIV and AIDS

Book no. 5, 'Community Action on HIV and AIDS', is designed to help church leaders in dealing with social, cultural and economic issues related to the AIDS epidemic at community level. It contains sections on topics such as the sexual abuse of children, domestic violence, widow inheritance and property grabbing by relatives - issues which have been exacerbated in many African countries by the AIDS epidemic.

Available in English

6. The Child Within
Connecting with children who have experienced grief and loss

This 68-page workbook, containing numerous illustrations, was developed in collaboration with Masangane ('to embrace' in Xhosa), an orphan care project supported by the Moravian Church in South Africa's Eastern Province. It arose out of a need expressed by volunteer caregivers who were experiencing serious difficulties in looking after orphaned children.

The Child Within breaks new ground in promoting resilience in children who have suffered grief and personal loss. It does so by enabling adults who are child caregivers - as parents, guardians, volunteers or professionals - to rediscover and appreciate their own 'child within'. Through structured workshop sessions, participants learn how to communicate more openly and effectively with children.

English / Swahili

The workbook incorporates a Christian approach to children as 'a gift from the Lord' (Psalm 127:3), but can be used by a wide variety of community groups and organisations. Although based on professional research on child and adolescent development, the book is written in clear, simple language, and is easily accessible to non-professional child caregivers.

7. Call to Me How the Bible speaks in the age of AIDS

Call to Me is no. 7 in the Called to Care toolkit, which is designed for use by churches, faith-based organisations, NGOs and community groups, especially in sub-Saharan Africa.

This 76-page handbook consists of 20 Bible studies on topics related to HIV and AIDS, e.g. sex and sexuality; healing; death, grief and mourning; stigma, discrimination and denial; church leadership; marriage; fear and anxiety; and children. It is written in simple, clear language, and contains 22 drawings by Zimbabwean artist, Mashet Ndhlovu.

The authors of Call to Me are 12 church leaders in four African countries: Ghana, South Africa, Tanzania and Zambia. They come from a wide ecumenical background, consisting of Anglican, Catholic, Lutheran, Methodist, Pentecostal and Reformed churches. In South Africa, two groups of people living with HIV helped to develop three of the Bible studies.

Called to Me is action-oriented. It is designed to enable churches and community groups to deal with difficult, sensitive issues related to the AIDS epidemic, and to decide on ways of dealing with these. Each Bible study consists of seven clearly defined steps, leading to a session in which the participants suggest and discuss ways in which particular issues and problems can be addressed. The book concludes with an appendix of basic facts about HIV and AIDS, written in simple, non-technical language.

8. My Life - Starting Now Knowledge and skills for young adolescents

Personal identity - making decisions - peer pressure - values - HIV and AIDS - love - sex These are just a few of the topics covered by My Life - Starting Now. This 80-page manual, no. 8 in the Called to Care toolkit, is designed especially for use with young people aged 10 to 15.

The manual takes a participatory approach to teaching and learning, using role plays, case studies, games, stories, quizzes, Bible study and artwork to promote discussion and explore critical life skills for young people. It aims to empower young people to take charge of their lives in a positive way. It also includes sessions for parents and guardians on their roles in guiding, supporting and educating young people.

Download here <http://www.stratshope.org/b-cc-08-life.htm>

9. More and Better Food Farming, climate change, health and the AIDS epidemic

More and Better Food is an essential guide for food security in the age of climate change and the AIDS epidemic. It presents basic information about food and health, managing soil and water, and improving productivity through organic farming methods which help to address the challenges of climate change. Written in clear, simple language, the book contains numerous participatory exercises for teaching and learning new farming techniques through practical activities, and is well illustrated with line drawings.

Available in English

10. Parenting: A Journey of Love Knowledge and skills for parents and guardians

Focuses on the knowledge and skills which parents and guardians need to provide their children with protection against threats to their health and wellbeing, and to give them the best possible start in life. Uses stories, poems, quotes, Bible studies, games and participatory exercises.

The author, Fulata Lusungu Moyo, PhD, is a mother on a journey of love with her three sons and numerous other young lives. As Programme Executive for Women and Gender with the World Council of Churches, she finds joy in learning from other women and men about their own parenting journeys. She is also Coordinator of the Circle of African Women Theologians. A Malawian national, she holds a doctorate in Gender and Sexual Ethics from the School of Religion and Theology at the University of KwaZulu-Natal, South Africa.

The No-Nonsense guide to HIV/AIDS, Gender Equality and Communication

Published by	World Association for Christian Communication (WACC)
Languages	English
Faiths	For all faiths
Cost	Free
Where to get it	http://waccglobal.org/resources/no-nonsense-guides/hiv_aids.2.pdf
About the resource	A short leaflet explaining why gender inequality is a key factor in the spread of HIV/AIDS: power relations lie at the heart of a pandemic that disproportionately affects women and young girls. For this reason, tackling gender inequality is central to tackling the pandemic itself.

The SAVE Toolkit

About the resource	SAVE stands for <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Safer practices Access to treatment Voluntary counselling and testing Empowerment The SAVE prevention methodology has been used and taught by INERELA+ for eight years and is finally available as a comprehensive toolkit. INERELA+ is an international, interfaith network of religious leaders – both lay and ordained, women and men – who are living with or personally affected by HIV. This toolkit systematically tackles the stigma, shame, denial, discrimination, inaction and misaction around HIV and AIDS, and comprehensively gives information related to HIV and methods of HIV transmission and how to mitigate these. A major challenge for faith leaders on HIV has been the lack of skills in addressing sex, sexuality and gender in their faith communities. This toolkit gives users a step by step methodology of addressing sensitive issues in an open, informative and non-stigmatising way which does not avoid otherwise difficult issues.

Africa	Channels of Hope Programme	CABSA provide an intensive seven-day training programme called Churches, Channels of Hope, although it has since been adapted for other faiths including Islam. The purpose of this program is to equip participants with the appropriate attitudes, knowledge and skills to be channels of hope and assist faith communities in their journeys towards HIV competence. The CABSA Churches, Channels of Hope programme also offers tools to help churches and communities respond to the needs created by HIV and AIDS. These tools include training that equips participants to run two or three day CABSA Churches, Channels of Hope workshops in their own communities. The training is expensive (approx. USD 800) but discounts can be negotiated. For more information visit http://www.cabsa.org.za/content/churches-channels-hope-training-facilitators or contact Aneleh Fourie Le Roux at training@cabsa.org.za or +27 (0)83 292 5358.
